The ing southeastern Kansas. flames shot up quickly and before an alarm could be turned in, were fast making their way up the wide corridors and filling the open spaces with smoke. When the fire apparatus arrived on the scene it was apparent that the structure was doomed. A dozen guests appeared at the up per windows prepared to jump, when pressed too hard by the flames, while others made their way through the halls and down to the street through the dense smoke or clambored down the fire escapes. The firemen were to make headway in fighting the flames and presently guests began jumping from the windows on all sides. Fortunately the ground was covered with snow and this partially broke the fall of the frightened people But few were able to save their personal belongings. Within an hour atter the fire started, the hotel was a complete loss, only the walls remaining.

The hotel was owned by J. C. Gor tion. The loss is estimated at $100, 000, insurance about $45,000. The origin of the fire is thought to have seen a defective electrict light wire in the storeroom.

The building was situated one block from the state capitol and was one of the oldest hotels in Kansas.

Henry Wells, the colored perter, was the first to learn of the fire. A was the first to learn of the life, street cleaning comment later, William Jenkins, the former Princeton football star, systematic trip through the house, waking the guests. Men, women and children, scantilly clad, were soon crowding the upper halls. About half of the one hundred and fifty guests managed to get to the lower floor and out and through the front and side doors before the stairway was cut off Half a dozen were forced to jump from windows, while the others were rescued by firemen from the windows of the hotel, tops of adjoining buildings to which they had jumped, and from fire escape landings.

Most of the guests got out of the building only in their night clothes. The ground was covered with snow and the refugees tramped barefooted and scantily clad to the Y. M. C. building and nearby drug stores, where

EXHIBIT TRAIN WILL REACH OCDEN MONDAY

The farmer's institute work being conducted this year jointly by the state Agricultural college and the various railroads of the state is meeting with unbounded enthusiasm all along the line. The work began at Richmond where the Industrial club had made all preparations. Richmond is the home of the Utah Condensed Milk company, and is rapidly becoming known as one of the dairy centers of the state. The lectures for the men during the day time were held at the cars, where Professors Merrill and Caine gave talks along dairy lines, illustrating their talks by means or charts and stereopticon slides. In the evening the men assembled at the ward hall, where instructions along the lines of horticulture and dairying were continued.

The professors were assisted in their work by C. J. Adney, a practical Bear River valley farmer and a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural colge. There was a large attendance of ladies at the Industrial club where Mrs. Rena B. Babcock spoke along the lines of home-making.

The train consists of a lecture coach and an exhibit car. The lecture coach is fitted with a stereopticon so that all lectures can be illustrated by means of slides. It is also decorated with photographs and paintings of tractive. The exhibit car is fitted in one end with an exhibit of grains and grasses from the arid farms of the state. There is also a splendid collection of insects, both beneficial and injurious, and a collection of dried fruits and nuts which are the cause of much discussion, most of the visitors being surprised to find that these products are raised in this state.

There is a collection of separators and a model milking macrine that men. At each of the places visited a demonstration of the milking machine is given, and the work is exciting the admiration of the men who are interested in the production of milk. The exercises of the student of the mechanic arts department of the State Agricultural college; an exhibit of the work in domestic science, canned fruits, samples showing the different steps in each year's work, home library, books for women and children, samples of up-to-date kitchen utensils, loor and wall coverings, pictures, and all things that are of interest to women and their homes

The train leaves for the Bear River valley, where the week will be spent, arriving at Ogden on Monday next, from which point Morgan and Summit counties will be visited, returning to

PLOT TO MURDER NIGHT JAILERS DISCOVERED

IT WAS ORIGINATED BY ONE OF THE PRISONERS.

Revolver and Cartridges, Concealed in Two Cakes, Did Not Reach Would-Be Murderer.

Los Angeles, Jan. 14.-An attempt to smuggle a revolver and some car tridges, concealed in two cakes, into the county jail, has led to the discovery of a plot to murder Night Jailers George Shehe and H, H. Doyle by Frank J. Humely, a prisoner. Humely has confessed, according to a state ment by Sheriff Hamel, that he originated the plot and that he intended to kill the jailers and escape after releasing thirty prisoners in the tanks with keys secured from the jailers. The cakes were sent by Robert F. Watson, who was released from the county jail on Saturday last, after serving a sentence for forgery. He has

LEAP INTO RIVER

Reno, Jan. 13.-William Walsh, petty offender, confined in the city jail, escaped his guards today and raced toward the Virginia street bridge. There an officer with drawn pistol halted him, whereupon Walsh leaped the railing and went headlong into the icy waters, 25 feet below. The river was running like a millrace, but Walsh swam to to shore, where he was unresistingly led back to his cell.

Last week Walsh escaped and fled to Truckee on the bumpers of the Overland Limited. He managed to crawl out almost frozen and secured passage back to Reno, where he gave himself up, claiming the imountain ride less inviting than a warm cell.

utterances of Attorney General Bona- day morning. parte and Postmaster General Meyer He quoted the portion of Mr. Bonaparte's statement of last Monday in which the latter said that Tillman had not told him of his desire to ob in some of the lands in question, and flatly contradicted the head of the department of justice. He declared that he had been entirely frank with Mr. Bonaparte and had fully explain ea to him his interest in those lands He attributed the attorney general's attitude to a desire to "bolster up the President."

Postmaster General Meyer wa of a statement made by him regarding the investigation of the Dorr case Mr. Tillman said that Mr. Meyer's ef fort to make it appear that the inquiry had been directed originally against Dorr, was not based upon the truth. He declared that, from the first, the inquiry had not been directed against him (Tillman) and no against Dorr. Mr. Tillman was also careful to bring out the fact that the land which he attempted to get was not government land at all, but land granted as far back as 1868 under the condition that it should be sold at $2.50 per acre.

Mr. Tillman read a letter he had received from Attorney General Bonaparte in response to his verbal request made vesterday for information concerning the legal proceedings that have been brought by the department of justice against the Southern Ore gon company, which holds the 2,000 -906 acres of timber land granted in connection with the Coos Bay wagon Mr. Tillman closed with a renewal of his demand for an investigation. He said he was prepared for anything, even the knife of the assassin.

WOMEN CAUSE SHOE DEALERS MUCH TROUBLE

Chicago, Jan. 14.-A proposition of he National Boot & Shoe Manufactur rs in convention in New York to stamp exact sizes on women's shoes has awakened opposition on the par of Chicago retail dealers. They say that the plan will not do here and from what they know of the nature of the fair sex, it will not do anywhere. At present but few women's shoe are marked with sizes to the public The shoe dealer has his own private mark. 'We deceive no one in regard to the material or size," said one dealer. "If a woman calls for a shoe three sizes too small she will get it if she insists. But we first measure her and see if she does not want the she that fits. She does not know what size it is. If she wants it to pinch, that is none of our business.

women have no idea as to what size of shoe they are wearing. The majority of women are vain in regard to their shoes. They buy shapes that make the foot look small-I do not think the association will take any such action. It would only make trouble for the dealers and do no good."

The consensus of opinion was voiced by one critic in these words: "I think to satisfy the women that are vain, it would be a good plan to follow the old custom of leaving the marks on the shoes unintelligible to the women. That satisfies both sides.

Chicago, Jan. 14 .- A discovery by Chief Justice Harry Olson that that particular branch of the municipal court system designated as the debtors' court, was being used by former constables, collection sharks, and dis reputable lawvers to make collections in a way not contemplated by the law, will lead to the abandonment of the custom of allowing representatives for creditors to examine debtors out of nearing of the court

The custom of allowing "representatives for the petitioners" to take debtors from the court-room to an adjoining chamber, there to pursue an investigation into their assets, grew out of the unusual number of cases coming

Then the custom arose of employing collecting agents and former constables to conduct cases in the municipal court. ASSOCIATED JOBBERS FIGHTING RAILROADS Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.-Franklin

K. Lane, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who will hear vidence in connection with the Los Angeles switching charge complaint against the railroads, has arrived here. The hearing will open at 10 o'clock today.

Just how long the hearing will last is uncertain, as both the Associated Jobbers and the railroads are preparing to make a hard fight. It is asserted that about $250,000 a year is involved. The jobbers of Los Angeles believe they are charged this amount by the railroads, which they should not have to pay. Mr. Lane stated tonight that he would hear the evidence as rapidly as possible, but he could form no opinion as to the length of time it would take, STERNBURG ART TREASURES ARE SOLD AT AUCTION

New York, Jan. 14.-More that $22,-000 was realized at the first day's nuction sale of art treasures of the late Baron Speck von Sternburg, formerly German ambassador to the United States. The highest bid was $550 for a pair of Oviform Chinese cases, which went to Mrs. W. D. Sloane. Many prominent society woren attended the sale, which contin-
